„Chapter 1.–
"Planet of Darkness."

"Planet of Shadows

Chapter One.–

Ron Dumont, 60 years old, said to Malina, the maid: "See that the tea is hot, the toasts ready, and butter and milk in trays."

– Milk in trays, Mr.?

– Oh! No, in a bottle. Perhaps my guest likes milk over his tea?

– Who knows, sir? Your friends are always queer."

– Excentrics, perhaps! The word queer refers to maggots, Malina!" – Mr. Ron Dumont exclaimed and the maid walked out of the saloon with a shrieking sound.„

At 4° o'clock, Mr Diego Lezaeta, age 74, appears in front of the apartment ringing the bugger. The maid opens the door, and after hearing the name pronounced by Mr.

He was one of those men that do not cry "Victory" before the battle is over."

2 weeks later, Commander Admiral Ferguson gives an order: "We are 45 years away from our target! Half our men will get into the pods for 5 years; then they'll be replaced by the rest of the group!"

And so, half the crewmen, artillery men and officers went into the pods, wishing to be alive when they step out."

The five years were very boring for the ones awake the scant number of females makes men fight themselves for their favors, until Admiral Ferguson decrees ~~went~~ ask all females to get into the pods - that means, also, that the same numbers of men went out of those pods... that makes another problem to surface, and then Admiral Ferguson sent every men to sleep 10 hours a "day" by giving them sleeping pills.

- Eric's fleet is on the drugs!" - Gustav said, laughing - he was not using sleeping pills - he spit it after receiving them, so he just stay laying on bed thinking why he offers for volunteer "to be traveling in a coffin by the blackness of space!

- Bad luck to have women on pods all of the time! What a waste!" - Clivor Tinardo said.

- I have no option with them before, so I'm not losing anything with them in those freezers." - Gustav replied.

Me neither! But think of it! lots of men without any sex could drive them nuts." - Clivor said, moving his head sidewise....

2 months later the Admiral takes women from the pods and sent them to work, saying to Colonel Gambino Perales: "The men cannot stand in their senses without them! Release them and back to duty!"

— Admiral, you should send the trouble makers into those pods; in that way, order will be restored." Gambino commented.

The Admiral rubbed his knee and said: "Yes, good idea! Let them PUT ON ICE their bad temper."

A year later, the moral was low, numerous failings were appearing everywhere on those battlefields and cargo ships; that gives the crews something to do. There were 3 meteor rains and the shiny smooth suface of the ships was utterly gone, and bumps were looking everywhere.

Admiral went into the pod after a stroke, and Colonel Gambino tooks the command (after been defreezed). He start copying the stern austere ways of his chief, but after almost lost his life in a fire on the hatch, he changes ways and permits alcohol and debauchery; several girls become tired to resist invitations from the crew men and start to be real easy for them - that was a benediction, because any rebellion that could be cooking, deflates when males release tensions thanks to them girls...

— At last I get a woman into my arms!" — Rivor Einard said, while working at the radar.

— Congratulations! I still cannot get anyone of them!" Gustao said.

000016

— What a pity! But its because you are what a scrooge! I give her my Eandy rations of a month! She really is fat, but nobody cares about that = in here there are not much to choose from," Clivor Einardo said.

Following his example, Gustao did the same and obtained his reward... as many other crewman were doing. Colonel Gambino decides not to awake the Admiral - he also was using the Admiral's share of liquor, his cigars and also his cabin, so not to lose those privileges, he just forget to revive the old dragon...

When approaching HD 38309 all alarms blared after this happens = — What is this?" Clivor said, pointing to the radar screen.
— Vessels! Many of them! I'll give the alarm!" Gustao said, but in fact, in every other vessel the radar men were doing the same thing.

The incoming vessels fired photon torpedos and MASER rays, that blows many a ship; in response, the Earth Fleet sent atomic missiles and LASER rays that illuminates the Aeter.

– Direct Direct hit!" a voice said by the loudspeakers, after a terrible blow that cuts the ship in two: one part went thumbling out in the direction of the empty space and the other was captured by the planet HD 38309-3, and the atmosphere heats the remains red white.
Into a safe cabin, Gustav, Clivor and 3 women save their lives, ~~but to~~ in the entry, but the half ship plunged unto the sea, going straight to the bottom, 120 meters below the surface.
The same hatches that prevented the ~~ex~~ flow out of the air, to the empty space, now prevents the water to flood the interior of the safe Cabin.

Several minutes after the catastrophe, Gustav regains conscience and looked around, under the red light of the emergency lamps. He begin hearing moanings and looking around he saw blood stains and twisted bodies. He revise his own body and notice several bruises but nothing broken.
– Gustav!" A voice was heard.
He moves there and find Clivor Tinarolo lying on the floor, with a twisted leg.
– What happens with the ship?" Gustav said.
– It's broken! But my leg is twisted and still dumb! Try to repair it while its time!" Clivor asked. With care and under the red light, Gustav takes the shoe and pants off the leg and saw a ~~bone~~ bump protruding

000020 Oliver Ricardo. Radar man between knee and foot, he straighten it and touch as best he could to know where the bones could fit together.

— Stop! Oh, it really hurts now! — Oliver yelled.

Gustav saw 2 other persons moving around: Safiria and Moldura, both young and apetizer...

— What happens? Everybody is dead around here?" sobbed Safiria, trying to mop blood from her legs with a belt.

— It's awful! Look at this mess! Hi, Gustav... is your friend die over there? — Moldura asked.

— I'm not dead... yet!" — Oliver said, with a fiery face.

— Cool down, man! The lady is just as living!" — Gustav said, earning a nice smile from young Moldura...

Safiria the troubled
Moldura the cracks on her tongue

Gustav rescued the rest of the group: Doria. She lay unconscious but breathing.

— Help her!" Safiria demanded, looking at Gustav.

— She's unconscious. I feel a bump on her head - must have been knocked out when bumping on the wall. Gustav said.

The blood was thrown all over the place by a cut on Doria's shoulder, and because also Moldura have a cut on her right leg, that she have bandaged with a cloth.

— Where are we?

— On the planet. Sense the gravity. If on Space, we'll be floating. - Gustav replied.

— So... we could open the gate! The air makes me puke! — Safiria demanded and Moldura opens it turning a wheel.

000022 Clivord

A meter of salt water rush in, flooding the compartment; Gustav helps the women to grab handles and take Clivord towards a bench at the next room, while the girls helps —

— It's flooding! Must have plunged into the sea! — Clivord said, icing the blood on everyone. Suddenly Doria open her eyes and asked:

"What's happening?"

— We fall from the sky. Now we are at the bottom of the sea. Guess that's all for us." — ~~Safira~~ Moldura said, with big eyes.

The lights flickered and was gone. In the pitch darkness a hollow fell silent and ~~Safira~~ Moldura said: "Shut up, Safira! You are not dead yet!"

Gustav went towards the next door, and when opening it, all was water and bubbles; then a recoiling and he felt he was out of the debris. For an instant he think he touches a thigh, but it's gone.

He let the air on his lungs help the rest of the body went up; all was darkness... When he was not more able to retain his respiration, his head was in the air; waves moves him in compass — he searches for his mates but there was no light enough to see but blurring mountains of sea water.

He try to stay afloat, moving legs and arms until the morning. He saw a corpse floating at 50 meters, and when reaching it he could not recognize any of his former companions, so he decided it was a crewman from the ship, washed out of the debris the same as he was. —

9/oct. At the beach

Half an hour later, a big wave almost drowned it but after it passes he saw land, being himself on the shoulders of that monster.

He begin swimming and resting until, about 17.00 hours of the day, he walks by the sand and walks reach dry terrain. The place was surrounded by rocks, that he begin to walk on, after looking there was nobody else in sight.

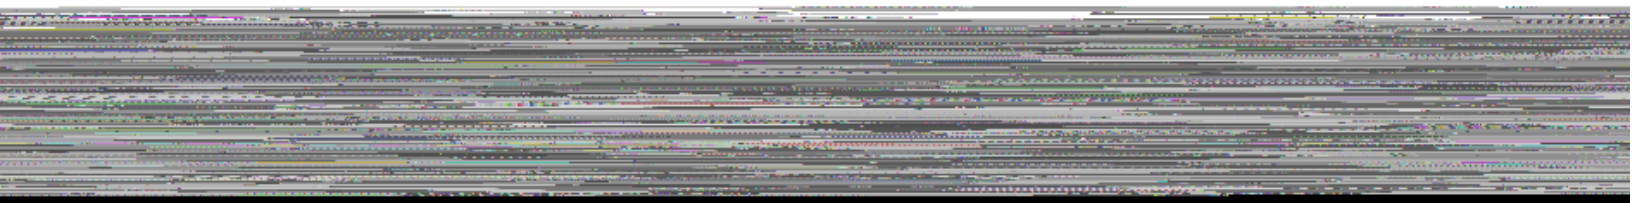

At 18 hours he was seated on the last rock, looking at a dark forest that seems dangerous; he also loo the forest was almost night, so he climbs a tree and waits... soon everything was dark except looking to the sky, that shone with a million stars.

He dozed and slept, and ocassionally stands on the branch, to let him his legs free of cramps.

A shrieking sound puts him on the alert - seconds later, the tree moves, like being hit by something. Several growls insued, and he knew his fears were right: big animals inhabited this forest. He wonders how they could see, but then he think that smell were they guide. Other sounds were also heard, [illegible] late, and accompanied them to their tribe.

—We live underground, now. Full of fear! No more happiness for us." Eulornen said. And in fact, the tribe lives in a cavern that went deep under the trees. The roots were forever visible, and the people lives at the sides of the tunnel, that ends in a round enclosure.

—Almost everything we eat is raw. We don't want to make fire except on the rocks: the smoke could tell them where we are." Ougen commented.

The tribe accepts them as they accept the rain or the clouds, only one person fixed her eyes on him, and was a tall young woman, who smiled each time he stared at him.

—Who is she?" Gustav asked.

—She's Nera, the sorcerer. But she is too young to have powers: her grandmother, she really have the gift, but it's dead and buried now." Ougen replied. Gustav approached her and said: "You are very pretty, Nera. I'm Gustav."

—Hi. I see you are a foreigner... a fisherman?

—I'm kind of a sailor. I travel... through the sea. In fact, I swimm ashore." Gustav said.

—All by yourself? And your boat?" —She asked timidly —It sunk on the sea. My companions I saw no more."

—They must be dead. You have suffered... Gulab?" —She pronounce 000030 Lena the tribeswoman.

"Gustav is my name, yes, I have suffered. But I still have hopes. Perhaps, like me, they also swim ashore." – He said, taking one of his hands.

– Why do you touch me?" – She opens wide eyes.

– I'm alone and you like me very much. Perhaps we could be a pair." – He said, not willing to wait. She lowered her gaze and said: "I cannot lay with a man. I'm a sorceree."

– Well, I'll wait. Perhaps you could be a sorceree and the mate of a stranger." – Gustav pressed the matter

– I don't know!" – She said, walking away.

He seats on the ground and soon he was asleep. Riley was with the rest of the small tribe and [redacted] was saying: "He is a strange man. Look! He uses new boots, nice clothes. Perhaps in his country he is an important man."

– Here is nothing." Ougen commented.

– We'll see about that. I'll carry him to hunt."

– He'll be eaten." – Ougen said.

– One less mouth to give food." Eaborren commented. Others close the entrance with a wooden door and stones; the darkness was fought with small lamps burning oil obtained from fat of animals.

Later, at the small enclosure where now Gustav was resting, Lena crept inside and curled at his side. Soon he was exploring her body and she begin to breathe hard.

Gustav

At the next day, Gustav went to hunt with the males apt to it; they use lances and some have bow and arrows.

At midday they rest at the side of their captured beast: 2 Belophysis, one Pahonavis, 3 Parricurson.

– You have brought us luck! – Riley said, smiling.

– Happy to hear that. Pity I have no skills to hunt."

– Nobody started with skill! You just practise and try to aim correctly." Tulorren commented..

In the afternoon they collected eggs and with it all they return to the cave: women were happy and soon they were skinning the beasts.

That night Lena bedded with him openly and nobody opt to make a remark. She said to Gustav: "I have seen women bedding with men before, and after some time they get very fat and have a baby."

– I suppose so. But you are young and will not suffer much." – Gustav said, embracing her. She added: "And you must never leave me."

– I promise you not to leave me, but I tell you one thing: I will not stay here for long. My people will be searching for us." Gustav said.

Lena said: "I will go with you. I know where is a city." –

Gustav was surprised and said: "Really? Is that too far?"

– Very far. But round the mountains there is a passage and we could walk by there.

EE 34

Lena the tribeswoman

My grandmother told me stories about it. Strange people, rare animals abounds. Too much food must be collected... you should have an animal to carry the stuff."

– what animal?" – He asked, intrigued.

– The one called Phenacodus. It's strong and if you tamed it properly, it could serves faithfully ... only he eats grass, and in the mountains there is scarce." Lena remarked.

– Well... if a Phenacodus helps us until the mountains it will be enough." He said, and in the next days he was always on the look for a Phenacodus; asking the hunters about it, he learns it was a new species and very rare.

Riley said: "Those animals were choosen by merchants, to carry their merchandise in a cheap way. What? Are you going to turn into a merchant?"

– No, I have no goods and I have no clients." – Gustav replied, and the hunters laughed.

A week, two weeks and no Phenacodus were had, until Gustav said to his woman: "I'll depart tomorrow, without the beast. I'll try to eat as few as I could, so I cannot invite you in this journey." Lena weep and said: "I'll be waiting for you, ever!"

And so, he departs at dawn, with scant food but plenty of optimism.

36

The big lake

He keep walking as told, although it was difficult by the lack of a compass. Sometimes in the day he climbs a tree, trying to see the end of the forest (as told by Hera) but the forest seems to last for ever.

A month later, he encounters a big lake and swamps full of mosquitoes. His ribs were noticeable for the lack of food and too much exercise. He seats on a rock, thinking where the mountains Hera said will carry him right to the city... else he was have lost his way or Hera was cheated by her grandmother.

Hera! The one who loves him! That THOUGHT gives him strenght and keep going, giving detours not to drown on the deep Water.

Rescued

Some bites produces him fever. Fever and scant food puts him in a feeble mood and walking was very slow.

Over the swamps an aerial vehicle hovered for a moment and then descends near Gustav...

- He's alive, sir!

- Bring him aboard! Doctor! Prepare to receive a patient!" - Captain Garzo ordered.

Gustav saw the men and salute, but when on board he was with more fever due to medications and doctor Byrne said: "This man needs to recover before any interview! He will remain at Infirmary until I decide!"

Captain Garzo moves the vehicle to the jungle and landed in a clearing, then his crew put the tarpaulin over 3 days later, Gustav was called to the officer's room and Captain Garzo was there, with first officer Galiazon.

—Take a seat, lieutenant Gustav. Talk to us."

—Yes, captain. Thanks for your opportune rescue: if not, I would be dead."

—It's our duty to help people in trouble, as much you are from our Expeditionary Force.

—Thanks. I was on board of the "_____" when it was hit. The spaceship plunged on the sea. There were others with me."

Captain Garzo let passes 2 minutes and then (after a nod from doctor Galiazon) he said: "Go on, lieutenant Gustav. Take your time but tell us all."

—Yes, captain. I was on the sea, I surface but it was all pitch black. When dawn come, there ~~was~~ were nobody near me. I swimmy ashore, many hours swimming, and I landed on a beach."

– You swimm ashore." First officer corrected.
– Yes. And I walked by the forest, find a group of persons."
– What they look like?"
– Totally humans... they told me they were in hidding from cocodrile people that have destroyed their city... they add they Cocodrile people eats humans..." Gustav informed.
– That is not mobed right." – First Officer.
– Well... that's what they told me. And then, one of them told me where the city of was located, and I try to reach it on foot. Guess I would never reach it." Gustav said – You were walking in a wrong direction." Captain Garzo commented.
Gustav said: "I'm happy to be back, Sir. Perhaps it would be inappropiate for me to ask, but I do wish to know how the war is going."

A silence and then Captain Garzo said: "We lost it."

The reunion keeps on and Gustav gives the approximate location of Lena's tribe, never mentioning his love affair, as there were protocols to meet foreigners on the rules of Planetary Fleet... and he have broken a pair of them...

Gustav receives a cabin where to rest – as Doctor Birne ordered that no excertion must be had in the next 2 weeks – and there he read reports from the fleet: only four destroyers were scrupulously run away back to Earth with the bad news – The rest was destroyed or flee and hide on the rest of HD38309 planets. The smaller ships seek refuge on the third planet; seven at first, 3 ~~right~~ in the present time, due to the fact they haven't answered. So the logical conclusion was that they were discovered and possibly destroyed by the Saurians.

A couple of days later, doctor Birne approaches him and said: "Well, lieutenant Gustav, how do you feel now?"

—Much better, doctor! Thanks for your good care on me."—Gustav said —It's my duty. I come to see how you feel to day, as Captain Garze is about to seek for that tribe you have found."

—It would be fine that he could help them with a few weapons. The poor guys are using only bow and arrows to defend themselves."—Gustav said.

Doctor Birne.

Doctor Birne moves his head sideways and replied: "You must tell all of this to the Captain. Perhaps he should want to make contact with naturals of this planet. But, ~~do you think~~ you could you find the spot from the air?"

Gustav meditated some seconds and said: "I think I could. Perhaps beginning By the sea... where I come ashore! I certainly will never forget that place: it was to be born again... in a way."

Doctor Birne give him some pills and said: "Act now, before Captain Garze takes another course of action."

—Could he? Seems to me we are marooned in this planet."—Gustav said.

—But not for ever! I'm sure those 2 destroyers that flee the scene of battle will certainly moves people, specially politics, to raise a new army and come here in full!" — Doctor Birne said, because that was his only hope.

Captain Gargo listened Gustav and his idea and said: "We could gain a foothold in this planet if we unite the natives. Don't you think?"

— Certainly, sir. Well... the place is sea, that at that hour was a dark pool of emptiness, only the ultra violet light was able to make them see the exterior and of course, the radar screens.

—well?" Captain Garzo asked. "Do you see your beach?

— In this scene... difficult to be certain. Let's travel a little more along the coast, Sir."

— Well. I suppose you'll find it or my men will laugh on me." Captain Garzo said.

— There! There, captain! That's the beach!" — Gustav said, exalted

The spaceship hovered above the beach, and Gustav descended, together with 2 other crewmen.

They run to the woods while the spaceship leaves the place, but the order was to wait for Gustav signals.

Run Silent Deep

— We'd wait here for the light of day. In pitch blackness nothing else to do." — Gustav told them.

They climb a tree and waited. Several heavy footsteps were heard and gone - fortunately for them.

In the morning, Gustav return to the beach and looked for some time to the waves, not sure at all if that was the same beach or not.

— Well, sir? We must to get moving" One of the crewmen said, reaveraging his rifle's belt over his shoulder.

— Of course." Gustav said and when at the forest, he guides them in a straight line. He was willing to accept defeat but he was sure he will have a stain in his military record if he doesn't find the tribe.

As before, he walked putting an ear to any dangerous roar, as ferocious beast was very frequent in that jungle.

Suddenly he heard that familiar sound of running waters: it was a stream!

He ran towards it, and yes: it was a stream.

- All we need to do is to follow this stream! We are in the right track!" - He said to his two companions, that were scared to be in the open with only rifles to defend their lives...

Soon they were with the ones of the tribe, although some hunters were out in the jungle. Lena was the first seeing the strangers (no wonder as she never fails to trust in Gustav...

- My love, you have come back as you said!" She said, kissing him.

Gustav calls on the Captain Garp and soon the officer lands as close to the cave as he could (1,5 km. away) and in person visited the people, look on the cave, call Gustav apart and said:

"Very interesting but they are so few! And they are living like barbars! Of course many drops of water ends filling a glass, but it's not ideal, as you could understand."

- I did. Pardon if I don't express myself clearly." - Gustav said.

- I see you have a girl in here. There are regulations that..."

- But, sir! I was almost sure I was not going to be rescued!" Gustav said.-

AUTOR: I. A. S.

—Wait! I understand your position, and that's why I'm working in a solution."

— I'm all ears, sir."

—Good. If you want to retain her, you must convince her to join our forces. We're lacking women—they know how to work in delicate matters."

—I'm sure she will be convinced, sir. Thanks."

—Then, start right now: we'll depart in an hour."

Gustavo almost run to tell the news to the young woman, who said, "But perhaps he is expecting too much of me! My education is very poor!"

—If you want to leave the tribe to live with me, you must accept this generous offer. You'll have clothes, food, fine environs with me. Furthermore, I need you."—Gustavo Fazer asks of her that accepted, only very troubled.

Captain Garzo receives a radio message (in Code) from airship RI-20, Captain Menger, saying they have found an important location, where many civilians were in hidden, and that a meeting was necessary—he also gives the coordinates.

—We'll be there."—Was all he said in a crypted reply. They arrive to a place located next to a large lagoon, where the other ship was undercover.

—Captain Menger! Good to see you."—Captain Garzo said, at the foot of his vessel.

—Yes! Each time we are fewer the survivors: Captain Furbo was captured and his ship destroyed; Capt.

Mr. Menger
Funegro did not reply to my messages."
—So we are only 2? —Lp. Carpasko asked —Who knows, anyway? Perhaps there are more somewhere, not willing to demonstrate their existence?" —Menger said.
—We must wait for Earth news. Perhaps one of us..." Gazzo said —Go there? Impossible! our ships are new & designed for long distance trips. It would be suicidal!" Menger commented.
And they decide to keep on being in the darkness as their forces were minimal.
Gustav and the whole crewmen made information and were certain that their lives were at stake.
That night, at their cabin, Nena said: "Gods told to help at the radars."

Gustav smiled and said: "I'll help with your training. I understand it very well."
—Really? Good for me!" She said, as she was worried about her job at the spaceship.
The 2 captains departs four days, and the crews exchange memories and hopes for the future; one thing was for certain and it was that help was far in the future for them.
Captain Gazzo soon was guiding the spaceship towards the coast, and in a forest he hides the vehicle, saying to his officers: "Gentlemen, we need fruits and meat. Hope you see to it with the help of your men."

Gustavo offered himself as a volunteer, and when accepted (not many men willing to stroll where they knew could appear a hungry dinosaur in any minute) he said to Lena: "Hope I'll bring you a whole dinosaur for supper."

—Oh, you are a lousy hunter!" she replied, laughing.

With a group commanded by officer Galiazon they walked in silence by the woods.

—"Put one eye on the vicinity men! We are not in a park!" Galiazon kept repeating.

They saw a Allosaurus stomping in the same direction they were going and they all went flat on the ground, heart thumping hard... the beast, 8 meters tall, evade the big trees but stomped on the lesser ones, breaking branches as a tank could do.

Caudipteryx 000057

When out of sight and with the noise gone, a perspiring Galiazon said: "We better go right!" And they change course willingly.

At 300 hundred meters away, they find a Caudipteryx, that drop dead with three fast bullets.

—An easy prey! Hope they all were as easy as this one to get." Galiazon said. They butchered right there and the most edible parts were put into a sac.

They walked 3 more kilometers and in a ravine.

– We'll cross to the other side – look how so many flying creatures are in there!" – Galiazon said, and boldly went down, much to the worries of the rest, as the descent was very steep.

Once at the bottom (some 60 meters deep) – the ground was made of sand – a river dry bed. "– someone said, and looking to an extreme, he saw a reflection of light.

– There's something metallic there, sir!" – that man exclaimed. They all went there, moved by the curiosity, and find the wreckage of one of their own ships.

– This is man made! Ours! look at the banner!" – Galiazon said, astounded. They look on numbers and realized that the debris belonged to the ship commanded by Capt. Fuzegro, ZQ-06.

This is very important! I'll call on Captain Garzo for further examination!" Galiazon said – are we going back now, sir?" Gustav asked, hoping to return to his soft mattress...

– No! We must comply with what was ordered." – the first Officer said, adamantly: he knows the lack of meat on board...

They return up the gorge and hunt the easy prey: Coelophysis. They were small and skinny, so they hunt them by the dozen using shotguns. With them bagged properly, they arrive to the Captain Garzo's ship and spread the news: the ship of Captain Fuzegro was found crashed at the bottom of a ravine...

– But this is bad news! Are you certain of what you are saying?" – Captain Garzo said, at the main cabin.

– We have proofs." – First officer Galiazon said, showing pieces of the vehicle with numbers in it.

000060. Officer Galiazon

After looking those pieces, Captain Jarzo said: "We'll go there. Hope there is a place where to camouflage our Spaceship?"

— Yes, sir. Not 2 kilometers away." — Officer Galiazon said.

The spaceship travels by night using radar and ultraviolet light; the metal detector pinpointed the place, but landing 2,5 km. away was ordered.

— Now, no lights! We'll wait for the morning to go there." — Captain Jarzo said.

Lena said: "I want to go there. I'm very bored here."

— Of course. Guess it'll be no problem." — Gustav said, and went to put her name in the list of volunteers. Officer Galiazon said: "Not good for a woman to be in the team."

13 Oct 2018 / Saturday 000061

— Why, sir?

— Saurios could appear. Who knows if they already know of that wreckage? They could visit the place from time to time in case humans appears." — Officer Galiazon commented, but he did write Lena's name in that redly red list (not everyone thought it was a good idea to go there.)

At dawn they were already marching and descended into the bottom of the ravine.

— It's beautiful here." Lena said, looking around.

— Why? I see barren land and few bushes." — Gustav said, who was walking at her side.

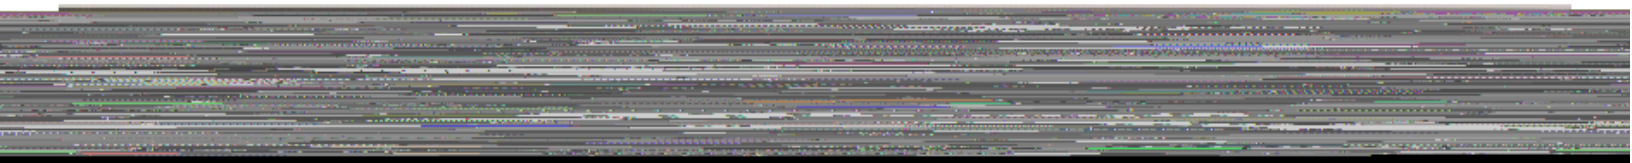

— The colors! Yellow ochre, blue sky... no wonder I was boring at the Ship!!" She said, inhaling the pure air of the morning.

The airship was half buried in the soft sand of the bottom of the ravine, and soon a path was excavated to reach the entrance. Using oxygen + acetylene gas, soon they unhinged the door and walked inside, using electric lamps.

The batteries are charred and the M-A-M- is out of existence, but if willing to use the radar, radio and other mechanism, a set of batteries could be the solution.

Captain Gargo asked: "But, is no body inside? Cadavers?"

Not in the sections that can be reach

000066

13-oct.

– Then makes Lena be with me!" – Gustav asked in despair.

– Not possible! Straighten yourself! It's not for ever!" – Officer Galiazon said.

Gustav went to Lena's post on the spaceship and said: "Officer Galiazon destined me as the guard of the remains of Spaceship 2006!"

She looked at him as not comprehending and because of that she asked, "What are you saying?"

– That Officer Galiazon put in post me as the Guard at Spaceship 2006!"

– No! And as? Refuse! Or do you offers as a Volunteer?" – She asked, eyes wide open.

– Nothing of the sort! It's his own idea!", He murmured.

– I'll talk with Captain Garzo! You cannot stay there without me!"

– And would you go there just because of me?" – Gustav asked.

– Of course! But I'll see that he appoints someone else!" – Lena said, adamantly.

She ask to see the captain, but Garzo was busy, so she talks with first officer Galiazon instead.

– You are the one torturing Gustav, sending him alone to that derelict?" – She asked furious

– I'm not torturing anyone, beauty. Now that I see you better, guess I'll be more close to you when he's gone. – Galiazon said, blinking one eye.

– You better be far from me, or I'll tell the captain you are doing this out of concupiscense!" – Lena said.

– Save your breath, baby. Wait until he's gone. Then we'll have plenty of time to talk... alone you and me!" Galiazon said, eyeing at her curves.

She run towards his cabin and said to Gustav. "let's run away, dear. Or you'll be separated from me."

– Do you talk with the Captain, then? He asked, feeling empty.

– I could not: he's busy or something! And officer Galiazon refuses a change." Lena said.

– Bad thing this it! If we go from here, it'll be real hard to gain a living in those refuges!" Gustav commented.

At the hour when he must present to be left in charge, nobody finds him – not in the ship or in the ravine. – He escape, Captain. This calls for a Court Martial!" Lieutenant Galiazon told Capt Garzo.

– Well, we cannot delay proceedings just because of him! But the next side shed one in charge and let's moving!" Captain Garzo exclaimed.

Lieutenant Galiazon choose at random, and it was private Rofo Jullon the one who was to attend radio and radar at the crashed vehicle.

Meantime, Gustav and Lena were walking away from the site.

– Hope we will survive here!" He said hand in hand with Lena.

– Perhaps we could find another human tribe!" Lena said, not willing to think that they were really alone in a dinosaur-packed forest. She has seen several allosaurus imprints on the ground – that passes unnoticed for Gustav.

Soon they find a group of fruit trees, and eats until burping.

- Ha, ha! Best fruit in weeks! " Gustav said, leaning his back towards a tree trunk. A terrible bellow was heard, and she embraces Gustav, saying: " Do you heard that? Allosaurus rex! "
- We better climb onto a big tree, fast! " Gustav said, taking her up her feet.

They did it just in time not to be still detected: the allosaurus sniffed here and there, trying to identify which kind of animal has passed recently...
- Don't speak! " Gustav said, when she was beginning to ask something, but when he felt some scratchings at his neck, he realing what she was trying to say: a spider on that tree! "

Lena and Gustav. 000071

With frantic desperation, Gustav begin passing his hands from head to shoes, trying to get ride of the insects, that falls down as black ashes. Lena was doing the same thing and they moved down, not to be bitten more of the count...
- Let's move from here! Seems that this side of the forest is full of... " Gustav was saying, when a fiery ray from the sky illuminates everything as if were noon time!
- The allosaurus was hit? " Gustav said, as soon a smell of barbecue arrives to their noses...
- Yes! Must have been an aerial vehicle! " Murmured Gustav, and they hide below some bushes. There they stayed and also slept until the arrival of dawn. At that time they heard rumors near by...

– Footsteps?

– Humans? It cannot be „too strong... must be... saurians!"

– Oh! That's why the flash of light! But... did saurians kill dinosaurs? Their own kind?"

– Why not? Humans... we kill several million mammals every day in our communities!"

– Right. Seems they went away." Lena commented.

– I cannot warranty it! They are very clever and deceptive! They could stay in one place immoral, for hours! They are terrible hunters!" – Gustav said.

– You seems to know a lot about them." – Lena said.

– I have heard rumors! And I'll stick to rumors... I don't want to learn by experience!" – Gustav ballpoint 15/10/2018

said.

Peeking through bushes, they saw a solitary Saurian soldier, rifle at the ready, stolid, like a statue. They retrace their way and arrives, hours later, to the checkpoint; a solitary guard was in sight.

– Hey! We're from the =Q20 spaceship! Hello!" – Gustav said, from the distance. The man was startled and hurriedly produces

MAJARO THE GUARD.

000074

a LASER pistol, aiming at them.
—Who are you?
— Gustav and Iena! Don't you remember us?" Gustav said, although the man was not remembered by him —Ollright, come closer!" The guard said. When at close range the Guard said: "I know you both! The man and his fiancée! seems you run away?"

— Yes. But there are dangers in the forest, so we come here!" Gustav commented
The Guard puts his gun on ~~his~~ its holder and said: "I cannot say I regret you coming here! The place its terribly lonely! My name is Majaro."
— We saw saurian soldiers back 000075

at the forest." Iena said — What? The enemy so close?" Majaro said, looking at the woods.
— Yes. We are not safe in here." Iena remarked. Majaro straighten his spine and said: "I'm on duty here I'll not desert... like you two."
Gustav seats on a rock and said.
— My mistake, man. But we get to think what todo before they arrive here."
Majaro looks troubled and said: "I see nowhere to hide! The downed spaceship have only three places to look on. The rest is smashed by the impact."
— But the radar, is it working?" Gustav asked.
— Yes. What with it? It cannot detect persons, but ships in flight." Majaro replied.
— We saw a discharge of some kind made by an airship in flight." Gustavo said.

– Humm! Then it must be recorded." Majaro said, walking to the entrance of that crashed spaceship – Gustavo followed him, hand in hand with Lena.

The Guard rewinds the video and approximatedly at 5.10 hours they saw the pinpoint in the monitor.
– There it is!" Gustavo exclaimed. Majaro studied the video and said: "It arrives at 5:10 hours and left in a northern direction at 6.10 hours. And at h what hour do you saw soldiers?"
– around 8:00 o'clock." Lena informed, although Gustavo believes it was earlier than that.

– Well, no doubt they are scouts searching for something, and from the spaceship – or whatever the vehicle was – they fire against something dangerous to these soldiers. Do you saw some dangerous animals while being there?"
– Yes: An allosaurus, at least 14 meters high" Lena said.
– wow! A real beast. So, they saw that threat and eliminates it..." Gustavo commented.
– Guess they will comb the whole area. We must leave." – Gustavo said. Majaro smiled and said: "Seems to me that you are the kind of person that is always running away from trouble!"
– That's my motto." Gustavo said, as he knew only fools are defeated when seeing a danger and makes no move to evade it –

Gustav and Lena takes some food from the ship and departs, saying: "Good luck! We'll be back in a week, or so."

– Don't worry to come back!" Major said, enraged as he thought they were becoming a team.

– He's nuts! Soon he'll be spotted and probably taken prisoner." – Gustav said – Or kill" Lena commented.

They lost to the south - the forest now was everywhere, and they saw some herbivores (Caudipteryx, Otniello) and in passing they found some fruits, that they eat.

One night, as always, was of fright and terror.

– Sorry I brought you here, my darling too many problems and no gains." – Gustav said.

– Being with you I'm happy." Lena replied while climbing a big tree - this one was devoid of spiders....

They heard roars in the distance, and they doged until morning.

– a new day! We're about 12 kilometers away from the crashed spaceship. I think we should walk another 12 kilometers to be out of peril." – Gustav said, smiling to Lena, who looked pale: the weather was changing and the cold was setting in.

They walked steadily until noon, and after eating some of the content of their bags, they repose on a high branch of a tree.

– Guess I'll rest the next few hours, dear. My feet are killing me." Lena said, showing her bare feet after taking her shoes off.

– Of course, darling. I guess we are free of danger now." – Gustav said.

Mr. Negaeta interrupted by saying:
—Doctor Polifemus is a very humble man."
—Well, my invention uses lithium batteries and its work its very reduced by the same cause. Only a couple of minutes at most." —Dr. Polifemus said.
—And what, exactly does your invention do?" Mr. Dumont asked.
—It creates a passage through time. One minute you are here, and at the next you are somewhere else, but in time." —Dr Polifemus informed.
—Really? I have heard tales of those machines —traveling to other dimensions, but never in our own time frame." —Mr. Dumont said, while Malina takes the tray with used cups out of that room.

—Well, that's the new facet of my invention! You can visit every moment of History or Prehistory in any given planet." —Doctor Polifemus said with pride.
—Hm! So we can visit only the past?" —Mr. Dumont asked.
—Yes. There are some studies that confirms the theory that the future is not already happened." —Doctor Polifemus said, with a knowing smile.
—Good. And you have diagrams in your satchel?" —Mr. Negaeta asked, knowing it was so.

"Positive. Here I have everything for you to analize." Dr. Polifemus said, opening his huge satchel and showing photos and diagrams.
In the photos, apart than those devoted to the machine itself, photos where landscapes were shown.

—This is in the Cretaceous period. Many dinosaurs but sorry, when I spotted them I was already out of film." — Doctor Polifenus explained.

They were about 24 photos, and shows mountains and plains - that could have been taken in any common site, past or present. This makes Mr. Dumont to begin doubting of this doctor... that could be a quack doctor as well ".

They talk of passed eras until the night fall over the land, Malina enters the room exactly at 21.00 hours, saying: " Mr. Dumont: dinner is served."

—Thanks, Malina. Gentlemen:

let's walk to my dinning room, where a little dinner is already served."

—Could I use your bathroom first, sir? I will appreciate it, after too being touching so many documents." — Doctor Polifenus said.

—Of course. Malena will guide you there." — Mr. Dumont said.

Malena guides him through a almost dark corridor and into the bathroom. "Thanks." - Dr. Polifenus said, when left alone. He seats at the toilet and discharge several powerful farts and continuos with the next thing... when finished, he used the necessary paper and throw the chain, emptying the toilet...

He washed his hands on the lavatory and went out to the corridor.

To his surprise, now the corridor was pitch black. Not even the end of it was visible. A sense of peril grabs his loins, but he reason with himself, and give a pair of footsteps. A deep growl born out of the darkness... he stops short, and looked back to the bathroom... in that moment, that door close with a click and he was engulfed in a dark pitch of terror.

Again the growl, but this time almost at his face... he recoils, stumbles to the floor, and feel that ugly smell all over his head. He was about to yell, but he cannot. A big jaws grabs his head, that crunched under the pression - his brain explodes and stained the corridor - blood pours as from a broken pipe...

The beast eats everything that was doctor Robifenus and then licked the blood and pieces of brain, so the corridor was now clean of any stain...

The Allosauras juvenile jumped out of the corridor by the only window available that was left open inadvertently inadvertently by the maid.

Mr. Dumont was saying at the dinner table: "Very original, this doctor you have brought here, Mr. Hegaeta. His invention will revolutionize our society, and many strange things will start occurring."

-why do you say that, Mr. Dumont?"
—Asked Mr. Nezaeta.
—Well, because if we kill some beast in the past, possibly many beasts will not exist in with the passing of the years. That, and also if we produce changes in human behavior of passed eras, those changes will certainly will produce changes in what is our present." — Mr. Dumont explains.
—Is that so? Probably nothing will happen! We are only a speck in a big picture!" — Mr. Nezaeta said, looking at the door. Dumont seeing the meaning of that stare, and calls on the maid, saying: "Malina, please go and see what is delaying our guest the doctor."
—Yes, sir." — Malina said, hurrying by the corridor. As she knew the way, she does not hesitate, but when passing near the window, she sensed the air current from the cold outside, and closed it before keep on going.

At the bath's door she knocked twice, and said: "Doctor, are you there? The Gentlemen are waiting you to start dinning!"
As she gets no response, she opens the door and knoped on the door to the toilet. As it opens with the knoking, she saw there was nobody inside.
—What strange thing! Perhaps he walks out and get lost in the darkness!" — Malina said, chuckling chiing...
She walks back by the corridor and revised every other room at the house (except the dinning room) not finding the doctor. She went to the reinforced entrance door and peeked outside... that was very dark and dares not to open that door... She has heard rumors of wild beast outside by the night, and not risk his life going out.

– Sir, there's no traces of Dr. Polifemus anywhere in the house." – She said to Mr. Dumont, who stared with incredulity at her face.

– How it's no traces? He must be

– I already revise the 8 rooms, sir. The only place I don't revise was this dinning room!" – Malina said, eagerly...

– He'll check out!" – Mr. Dumont said, standing from his chair.

– Please! Stay here and eat! I'll be going with the maid!" – Mr. hegeta and walks out of the room under the feeble protest of his host...

When revised the house, and not finding traces of the doctor, Mr. hegeta returns to the dinning room, saying:

– Certainly he is gone! It's very strange where a candle was already lit.

– Sleep well, Sir. " The maid said, closing the door by outside.
Mr Lesaeta seats at the border of that bed, thinking in what to do... Doctor Polifemus's death was a real problem, and he does not want to be questioned by the Guards or the Police...
He gets asleep 1 hour later...
In the morning both men revised the house's surrounding area, finding big footsteps...
– Allosaurus, no doubt! I'll leave the house today. " Mr Dumont said, very troubled.
– Yes, Sir. I'll go with you! " Malina the maid said.
– Yes! I'll pack my most precious pertenences now, and I'll go with you in the truck!

later I'll sent for my other things. " Dumont said, hurriedly.
– I offer you a room at my house, Mr. Dumont! " Mr. Lesaeta offers.
– thanks. But I'll be hosting at a hotel. – Mr. Dumont said.
At noon the truck arrives and the driver, Mr. Jomerio, saw how Mr. Dumont was waiting at the front door of his house, with several valises.
– What happened, Mr. Dumont? Going away? "
– Yes, Jomerio! last night an Allosaur was lurking around the house and that is not all: one of my guests is missing! "
The driver scratched his head and said: " But, how could that be possibly? The government have responsability with this Mr. Dumont! Ask for protection! "

000102

Just the same Mr. Dumont went towards the city of Forwin.

After 2 days settling in, he ask the Government for protection, and a funtionary takes notes and said: "We will send a group to see what is happening there, and exterminate any threat to the human existence."

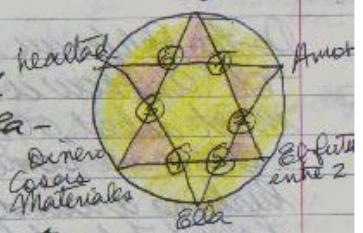

-Thanks. I'll wait for the results.- Mr. Dumont said.

A day later, a military group arrives near Mr. Dumont's house and patrolling the place, finds the Allosaurs and ends with his life using Rebelwefers... They keep on revising the site, finding lesser dangerous beasts, ending with them using their weapons.

3 weeks later, Mr. Dan Dumont arrives back to his home, and with 3 new sewants, in charge of the security and using heavy weaponry.

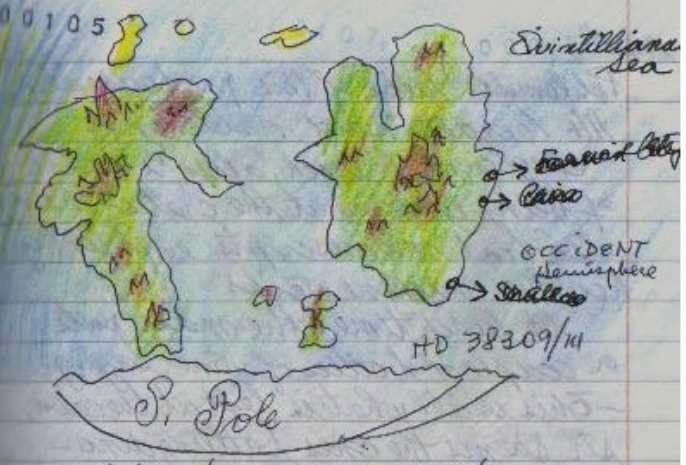

Their names were Mr. Mawglas, Mr. Deanof, and Mr. Jacquand.

Weeks later, Mr. Segaela arrives in a truck to Mr. Dumont house and said: "I brought the machine of our deceased friend

000104

Doctor Polifemus."
—Oh! and how is that?" Mr. Dumont asked, very touched.
—There are some people that is lurking around his desested house. I don't know if they are common thieves or agents of some guoernmental Agency. In any case, and thinking that here is the most secure isolated place to keep it safe, I brought the invention aforementioned."— Mr. Lozaeta replied.
—Yes. I think that it will be safe at my cellar: it have a very thong door, and with a nice lock."—
Mr. Dumont said, coughing.
The servants carried the machine to the cellar, and when deposited there, they retire. Only the 2 old friends remains in there, observing. Mr. Lozaeta said: "As you can see, you have here the infamous cabin, and four boxes with spare parts that if assembled, you'll have the mechanism in function."
—So... you have never seen it working?" Mr. Dumont asked, looking how dust of months were deposited on those crates and the so called cabin, that looks makeshift...
—No, Mr. Dumont. But doctor

000105

17 Oct. 000106

Polifemus talks of this profoundly." Mr. Lezaeta said, saddening.

They went to lunch, after 2 hours of being looking at the crates. They also find manuscripts explaining how the machine works.

At lunch time, the maid puts a couple of bottles of wine, saying:

– This is all what is left at the cave, sir. Seems the ones battling dinosaurs were very thirsty.

– 30 bottles and you saying there is only 2? I'll change locks." Mr. Dumont said.

– And put a lock on that door too, sir. Your bodyguards seems to have been thirsty too! Yesterday were 5 the bottles." Malina said.

Mr. Lezaeta said: "I'll bring you with some bottles."

– Good! Because you never bring a thing when you come." The maid said, and left the room.

– Don't pay attention to her sayings, Mr. Lezaeta! This woman ignores when to stay put." Mr Dumont said, beginning with his soup.

000108

– It would be fructiferous to see the machine of Dr. Polyfemus at work. Imagine: We could play lottery without losing a coin, and indeed earning a lot." Mr. Nezaeta commented.

– Yes. Keeping on with your train of thought, Mr. Nezaeta, we could buy gold in the past, and sell it in our present day. As you know, in old times you could change your money in gold just going to a Bank." – Mr. Dumont said.

– Yes, but think it over. Our present currency is not similar to those in course in old days." – Nezaeta objected...

– I see. So, the option are lottery tickets only? – Mr. Dumont asked.

– And races! You know that are many kind of races: Velophyssis, Fulgenia and others. It would be easy to take notes in that old time, and ~~abbandon~~ a day or two, and return to the past for to make bets. Winning bets." Mr. Nezaeta said, finishing his soup and his first glass of wine."

– That will need a specialist." Mr. Dumont said, knowing both of them were not.

– A discreet study, and an honest technician is needed. I'll pay half of what is needed."

– And me the rest, no problem. Our goal is to make money, of course." – Dumont said, and Malina enter with the second plate: duck in its soup, potatoes and fried beans on butter.

– Nice cook. Congratulations." Mr. Nezaeta said to her, who nodded and said: "I prepare it with 12 hours in the hoven. Must be very palatable."

000110 Alfredson Duller. Tech -

They eat and it was delicious. Mr. Lezaeta said: "Not even with the recipe I would be able to produce such a dish."

A week later, Mr. Lezaeta departs to the city in the truck from the Super market, decided to find a good technician. It takes him 3 weeks to find what he wants: a serious, able technician not worried in gain lots of money but to achieve success in hard labor. His name was Alfredson Duller, and he have a car; in it they traveled towards Mr. Dumont's house, and they saw several dozen animals while in the dirt road: Coelophysis, Rhopus harcos, Triadobatrachus, Scipyonix and like Allosaurus 1.50 meters tall... Mr. Lezaeta grew worried at the sight of this lizards, but a complete mistery.

000111

(next River)

promised himself not to talk about it with Mr. Dumont, that was sufficiently scared after his passed experience with Allosaurus...

Mr. A. Duller examines the cabin, or capsule, and said: "So this is a Translator Temporis?"

- It so Dr. Polifemus said to Mr. Lezaeta. None of us has seen it before. Less in Function." - Mr. Dumont declares, feeling the cold in that humid cellar.

- Good. So we have a complete Mistery in sight, yes?" - Mr. A. Duller asked.

- You can say that again." Mr. Lezaeta agreeds.

- And what are in those crates?" - Mr. A. Duller asked again.

- Pieces and parts. But also some kind of a Manual. Notes of belated Dr. Polifemus." - Mr Lezaeta said - – And he gives you notes... where is he? Voyaging, perhaps?" Mr. Duller asked.

000112

– He's probably dead. – Mr. Dumont said, and after a silence, Mr. Duller said: "Well, hope I could work here with a heater heather! Much cold and the place is damp. Or we could move the artifact upstairs." Mr. A. Duller suggested.
– Sorry, but this machine could be much desired by people without scrupules. Here it remains." – Mr. Dumont said in a peremptory mood.
– all right. But I need a heather, a generator 220 Volts, as this machine must work with electricity?" – Mr. Duller asked.
– Obviously, Sir." – Hezaeta replied in a sternly way.

000113

A day later, Mr. Duller was working at the cellar, with good light and a Kerosene stove. at 18 hours he usually locks the door, and went to eat at the kitchen, where the Maid Yalina sewer him huge dishes, saying:
– You deserve it, sir! You are very thin! Have you no wife at home?"
– No. She passed away last year." – He replied, munching at heart's content and drinkin also, as the Maid was being generous with Mr. Dumont's wine...

A month later, Mr. Duller started the machine, and puts a chicken inside the Capsule. He waits 19 minutes, and when opening the door of that cabin, the chicken was gone (although he have enough time to defecate on the floor.)

000114

After after that first experiment, he went to eat, and Maid Malina said: "I heard the engine today... still not working?"

Mr. A. Duller replied: "Not yet! I must calibrate lots of things first. It's hard work, not having the creator with me."

— Oh, you mean Doctor Tobifenus?"

— She maid handled him the glass with wine until the brim.

— Yes. Pity on him. Seems he died of some illness, as they told me." — Mr. A. Duller commented while chewing a huge piece of licorhinos meat. — — What? Who told you that? He was never found. Possibly an Allosaur, terrible creature! Eats shim."

— Eats him? How?

— A window was open, Doctor

000115

Arthur Schopenhauer 1788 - 1860
72 years. —

Tobifenus walks by the corridor... possibly the monster grabs him in passing and takes him to the woods." — Malina said, smacking his lips. —

Days later, after several secret experiments with the machine, technician Duller call his patrons to the cellar and said: "Here it is Tested and approved."

"Incredible!" Mr Dumont said "Amazing!" — a Respeta approved.

— Not yet tested with a person. Who's next?" Technician Mr. A. Duller asked.

— No, no way I'll be traveling through time! I'm very cozy in here." — Mr. Dumont said, staring from that machine.

— I'll be the first volunteer! Start the machine!" — Mr. Respeta said.

69 years / Vi Vegas.

—Well, sir, I'll sent you as little back as it's possible." Mr. Alfredon Duller.

—And to come back? What I must do?" Mr. Ketelier asked.

—You just get into the cabin. It will return at the pressing of a button." Mr. Duller said.

—So, my return here is assured." Ketelier said, clapping his hands.

Soon he was closing the door of that cabin, and automatically the artifact sent him away to the past. Contrariwise to what Mr Duller said, he arrives only with his body and falls to the ground at an altitude of 1,5 meters. The ground was dirt and stones.

After he stands up, he look for the safety of the cabin, but it was no cabin anywhere. To his dismal, he saw the sun disapearing behind hills, and the darkness begin to appear.

To his right he saw some trees, and walked towards them, arriving when the sky begins to turn dark blue.

He searched for a refuge, finding some rocks, where he try to hide between boulders. Sounds at a distance sounds, to his hears, as trumpets.

He saw all things become black ark except the sky - stars were seen between passing clouds. He begin to analize what happened: a failure on Mr. Alfredon Duller, that technician that assured him a fast return. Ketelier realize he was forever marooned where he must fight for a living, or else.

A mighty roar out the protection of the rocks left him trembling: a big beast was near, and he was only a small mammal without salvation if found.

Suddenly, he heard footsteps and crouched on the crevice. A human form landed on him, and gives a cry: a women's cry.

– Eustao! There's something here!" – The woman said.

– Don't yell, lady! I'm in hidden and hope you don't give up our position to the beast!" – Legeta said, in haste.

– Darling! With whom you're you talking?" – A male voice said, and Mr. Legeta understood he must be that "Gustav" she calls for help, so he said: "Don't you worry, brother! I'm a civilized man in distress... same as you are!"

The man approaches and his faint silhouette was delineated by the star in the sky...

– What kind of a beast is that? Could he spot us for real?" – Mr. Legeta said, more than no thing to instill confidence on the couple, that he was sensed younger than himself. – – Must be a Banyonic! In his prime." – Gustav said, crouching into the crevice.

– From where are you?" Mr. Legeta asked.

– Forwin city. We crash landed and now we are returning there." – Gustav, and the roar of the Banyonic was heard again.

– Hope you made it. Seems this is a terrible place to roam." – Mr. Legeta commented.

– From where are you?" – Lena asked, now more at ease.

– Forwin City. It's a ridiculous story. I'm here from your future." – Mr. Legeta said.

Another roar, and a shrill lament come from the woods. Gustav exclaimed something and Mr. Nogueta realizes that the detestable monster have found a prey... at least, he'll be occupied in eating for a while...

- The past, the future... a line where not many has crossed." - Gustav said, thinking that the man in the device was only talking in a figurated way.

- A line not to be crossed by stupid people."

- Why stupid? A person designing a Time Machine must be clever - Very clever."

- Of course. In my case, the maker die and after some time, another man fixed the machine and tested it with me."

- But you are here. He succeed!" - Lena said in a whisper.

He succeeded sending me here, yes! But it was only a test! I should have returned into the machine, but instead of that, I was thrown out!" - Mr. Nogueta said.

They keep silent for a while and then Gustav said: "We must try to sleep! Tomorrow we must keep on walking! I guess Fort-wirlity it's not too far from where we are."

- One more question: what is your name, sir? Are you a scientist?" Lena asked.

- My name is Diego Nogueta, astronomer." Mr. Nogueta whispered back.

- What? Are you a friend of my uncle, Mr. Dumont?" - Gustav asked in great surprise.

- Yes! Mr. Dumont, a great friend of mine! I remember you... asking for a car!" - Mr. Nogueta said, smiling in front of a rare coincidence.

000122

–There is a question: If you come from the future... and I was there... how is that you arrive at my same timeframe?" – Gustav said, and Mt. Legaeta heard a rasping sound on the rocks.

– What is that? – Lena asked, worriedly.

– The rasping sound? Must be an insect." – Gustav said.

– Well, if it's an insect, it must be small... about your question, the only answer is that Mr. Alfredon Duller sets the machine only a few hours in the past. That is a sound explanation." – Mt. Legaeta said.

– And the other explanation could be that it does not moves in time but only in space." – Gustav said.

– Probably. Bear in mind that Mt. Duller is not the inventor of that machine, but only a technician trying to make it work." – Mt. Legaeta replied.

000123

– And so, you are thinking that he start only the translation in space but not in time?" Gustav said.

– Exactly, but to know it we should return to Wind city!" – Mt. Legaeta decided. –

In the dark of the night the light of hope shines in their hearts...

At dawn they departed together; Mt. Legaeta looking for fruits, Gustav looking for fruits, that were find at 12:20 hours in a sunny spot of the forest. But after the first bite, a group of Caudypteryx appears making a lot of noise, as to shoo them away.

Caudypteryx

— Those pesky birds! I'll show them. Gustav roared and grabbing a large branch he begin hitting at the most bellicose — soon he have 3 dead or very badly injured Caudypteryx on the ground and the rest flying away in range.

— We'll need to eat or we'll be too weak later. — Gustav said, taking a fruit from a tree.

— We must start a fire and roast the animals. — Lena said, and soon she was starting a fire and while Mr. Hepeta takes the feathers out from the body of the Caudypteryx. —

They roasted the meat and eats while walking. Gustav said:

— Not staying where we roast meat as it must; the smell of grilled meat attract many dangerous carnivores."

And as he was saying that, they saw at 100 meters in the distance, a fat greasy Tyrannosaur hurrying to the site of their barbecue! They crouched and when the mighty stomps ceased in the distance, Gustav said: "We better run for a while!" And giving the example, he begin to run, Lena stumbled a pair of times and so Mr. Hetcher takes her hand to help, and keep on running in that way; when Gustav saw that, he stopped and said: "You two, release the hand's grip!" — It was only to help her not to slip, Gustav." — Mr. Hetcher said, releasing her. Gustav takes her by the hand and said: "Don't let any man, but me, to take your hands." —

— Yes, Gustav. — She said, tamely...

Lord Burgolen cut the dialog by saying: "I see you know each other! Please explain me how is this coincidence happening right now!"

Mr. Nezaeta said: "We come from the same place and time but in different ways: I, me, using an electronic device, and Mr. Fazer using a space ship. The lady is not from our planet."

— And what planet is you both come from?" Lord. Burgolen asked.

— Earth, sir. The third planet orbiting the sun." Mr. Nezaeta said, proudly.

— I have heard of it. And as Mr. Gustav Fazer has told us previously, he is a member of the crew a fleet from your planet come here and was defeated by the Saurian people." — Lord Burgolen said — evidently, he was exhausted.

— All he has said to you it's the truth!

Lord Burgolen paled and said: "So our only hope is totally destroyed! No help must be waited."

— Sorry about that. Seems the Saurian civilization it's powerful than anyone thought." — Gustav commented, and added: "As you know all I know because I told you everything, I must ask my leave now."

Lord Burgolen said, with an absent look: "Yes, you can go now."

— Me too?" Mr. Nezaeta asked promptly: it was no fun being there being questioned...

— No, Mr. Nezaeta. There are some points we must still discuss." Lord Burgolen ordered. —

000136

Gustav did not return to work and went to see his fiancée, saying:
— "Lena, please come with me. We need to talk."
— But I'm working now! Could you not wait?" She asked in a harsh tone of voice.
— Mr. Negreta arrives here! And now he's talking with Lord Durgolen!"
— Gustav said, taking her by an arm.
— And who cares? He cannot accuse you of nothing: you never hits him, yes?"
— No, in fact I just left the place." Gustav said.

But they don't see him very often; apparently he was engaged in some experiments with electricity...
— I don't understand how they put him in charge of a laboratory! He is an astronomer, for all I know!" Gustav keeps repeating... but he was happy the man was away from Lena, who seems to like the astronomer's ways...

A month later, Gustav was called by Lord Durgolen, and in his office there were 3 other persons. Among them, Mr. Negreta. The Lord said: "I have called you as here Mr. Negreta said you worked in a space-ship."
— That is correct." Gustav replied, very stiffly.
— Good, because we need a pilot; we have a small craft, not really a spaceship, but able to fly far and wide, thanks to some improvements Mr. Negreta has made."
— Good to hear. I am really

Under the 2 sun

not a pilot but I know how to handle a smaller airship." - Gustav said, wondering what else Lord Burgolen wants of him.

- Mr. Nezaeta believes there is a certain person making experiments with a Translator. He seems to believe those experiments will continue until one of you it find." - Lord Burgolen said. -

Gustav looked at Nezaeta, that stays impassible; the lie must have some objective, Gustav thought.

- Well, yes. They are very persistent. Gustav heard himself saying.

- Well! I'll help you both - and the lady if she wants - to return there and wait. But don't wait too long! You don't want to be eaten! - Lord Burgolen decides...

They leave the office and in a corridor Mr. Nezaeta said: "It was not very polite to dump me on that jungle!"

"Well, I was jealous! You seems to look a little to much at my wife!" - Gustav said. Mr. Nezaeta looked puzzled, stares at them both and said: "I have never have any intentions to rob you of your woman!"

"Well, I thought different. And now it seems we'll be back at the jungle, I ask you not to begin again." - Gustavo said.

"Miss Nena: did I have harassed you in any way?"

"No, you don't. But he (meaning Gustav) felt you did."

"Wrong appreciation, of course! But don't worry Mr. Gustav! I'll reduce my amabilities to your woman. Is that understood?"

"I accept your decision and I hope

I will not regret it later." Gustav said.

Mr. Kezaeta smiled, thinking that to rebuke Gustav will never end with their jealous concepts, and said: "Very well. As you can see have seen I convince the chief of this galeries that it'll be best for him to help us return to Earth planet, and bring what rests of the fleet here, and defeat the Saurian people once and for all. Thing I doubt much! If they depaited here with the tail under its hindlegs, I guess it takes a lot of time and no [will] way to try again."

— They... or les were defeated. There is no doubt of it. The Saurian have weapons that surpass our technology." Gustav said.

— Well, what's done its done. Now

11-10.2018

I'll talk with the persons that will help us leave this place. Meet me tomorrow right here where we are! And we'll be in contact." Mr Kezaeta said, bowing and went away.

— Well! I have never asked you if you want to be at the jungle again." Gustav said to Lena, who replied:

— "I'll be at your side as long as it's possible. Hope that people you are talking will come as you wish it.

With that, they return to work...

At the next day, same hour, both of them returns to that corridor and meet Mr. Kezaeta in company of another 2 persons.

Good morning! Well, here we have our 2 guides: Mr. Deaner and Mr. Maseur. They will help us arrive to Robert Dean.

the site."
— Good to know you both. I'm Gustav and this is my wife, Hena." G. said.
Both men bowed, without much interest: they were foreseeing lots of perils without any certain success. They went where backpacks were delivered for them and departs at night, not to be surprised by the Saurian people.
At dawn they were five kilometers away and with both guides in front, both having old rifles and keen eyes. Mr. Legacta following and at the end of the group both Gustav and Hena, hand in hand. The weeds were humid and the air fresh.
At midday, they spot several Coelophysis and the hunters kill 2 of these animals to roast.

— Let's ~~roast~~ eat and then we'll proceed." Hunter Maseur said.
They made a fire with dried branches and the smell of meat being cooked fills the air... the smoke swirled up and a sense of gratitude was on all of them.
After being eated, they resume begin his march and Hena grabbed Gustav's arm, saying: "I'm feeling afraid, dear - something bad will happen."
Gustav pressed her hand, saying: "Don't worry! I'll keep my eyes open for anything that may be in our road!... and observed every tree and bush, if some dangerous animal could appear.
But the danger descends from the sky in a form of an aerial vehicle, that landed not 100 meters away.

–What is that!" Mr. Regueta exclaimed.

– Saurians! Run!" Hunter Deaner said, running wildly away. Both Gustavo and Lena followed but soon they lost track of that hunter; Mr. Regueta and Hunter Maseur were behind them... but not for long; the saurian people, using stunn guns, fired at them; that went to the ground with lighten muscles.

Defenseless on the ground, they were picked up by the giant Saurians (four meters tall) and carried like pidgeons to the awaiting aerial machine.

All Gustavo was hearing were hissing sounds produced by the saurians, as that was their way to talk.

Once in the craft, they were

dumped on a cabin (devoid of any furniture) and with locked door.

Twitching for some minutes, they began to regain control of their limbs and arms and Mr. Regueta said:

– "We're trapped! Now we'll know at what extent the enemy will go against humans."

– They say Saurian people eats us!" – Lena said, trembling and Gustavo embraces her, not knowing what to say –.

Hours later, a Saurian opened the door and signalled them to step outside.

When out the cabin, they were pushed out the craft and they were in front of a big building, one of the few extant at the city of Forwin City. A man in a red uniform approaches them, saying: "Low your sight! Play dumb, or these guys could hurt you! Follow me, fast!",

And almost at a trot they followed the red dressed man an into the building; by half lit stairs they descend two floors and arrives to an empty hall. The man said:

— "Now you are safe, for the moment! lucky for you, our masters weren't angry!"

— Our masters? What are you, a slave?" — Asked Mr. Lezqueta, in disgust.

— I'm just a survivor, pal! I serve them, they spare my life, but really, I'm not in a much better position than you are at present time!" The red dressed man said.

Gustav asked: "And what are they going to do with us?"

Outo se quiere ir.

25 oct.

The man chuckled and said: "What would I now, buddy? Else you are sent to work for them... or they'll just kill you!"

Gustav palled, Lena throwed out and Mr. Lezqueta said: "What is your name, pal?"

— Feiner. But names are not important, now. They will be here in any minute, now. Pay attention to what I'll tell you: neder stare at them, don't use your head much, and when pushed, trotted along. They detest slow walkers."

In that moment 2 huge Saurian Lupens appears and yes, they push them by corridors and left them at a huge kitchen; there were more than 10 people working there amid cauldrons and frying pans; the air was full of steam. Another man in a red dress approaches, saying: "ah! New cooks! Come with me! We have lots of work to do!"

And soon they were helping with the labors in a kitchen - frying meat, boiling vegetables, and preparing the food unto large dishes.

While giving orders the red dre

At midnight the masters went to sleep with their full bellies satisfied, and the humans to rest at the kitchen, with locked doors.

Gustav talks with other men, and heard how was life in there. A small man said to him: "We're prisoners in here, mate. Our destiny is fixed: no hope of escape."

"Why that's there's always a chance."

000152

– Let me try to unlock it, buddy! I used to work at a locksmith shop!" And in seconds he have the lock open.

– Ready! What are you going to do, anyway?" The small man asked.

– Escape! Better dead than eaten alive!" – Gustavo said, grabbing Lena's hand.

– Good luck to you! But I'll stay – trying to escape it's suicidal!" – The man said, scurrying away...

By the ill lit corridor they walked until finding the stairs, and it was very dark in certain sites of the stairs – Gustavo walked around an object in the way, and later Lena said: "I admire you! Don't you see a Saurian guard sleeping on the steps?"

And certainly, Gustavo heard

about it for the first time!

When at ground floor, they saw the big vault of a door totally close. "Bad luck! Soon it'll be dawn and will be the number of missing people if we don't unlock the door!"

Lena takes her head in both of her hands and wept profoundedly. She was terrified by the way those creatures reacted at things: fixedly, without emotions of any kind – like a dinosaur or a snake... able of the worst act without second thinking....

– Let's find another exit!" – Mr. Lepeta said, urgently. Soon they were passing out to the street, through a crack on a wall, probably neglected by the Saurians, as it looked too narrow for them – but not for a desperate human fighting for his life.

Once outside, they crawled by the debris and enter the sewer - the smell was awful but to keep on walking by the surface was suicide, with the Saurians on the lookout.

- My dear, I'm so tired and bruised! Let's rest a little. - Lena asked to Gustav, so they find a site not near the craters and there they seat; Mr. Nepeta explore a bit more but finding he was in the darkness, he also seats to rest - and to pay attention to the noises... Scurrying rats and the drip of water was all he could distinguish. 3 hours later, they surfaced to the exterior and the night was on the land.

- Look! lights! - Mr. Nepeta said, pointing to a site near the Saurian headquarters.

- They must be mad at us! But because of it, we must put at much distance as we could."

So, they begin walking fast and at dawn they were deep on the forest. Mr. Nepeta found a depression in the terrain and under cover of bushes they slept the entire morning.

At noon they heard noises and Gustav said: "The Saurians!"

Mr. Nepeta crepts by the high grass and looked at the machine; then he returns to the couple and said: "It's a Saurian scout ship!"

- What a disaster! - Lena said, trembling in fear. Mr. Nepeta returns to spy on that vehicle, and approaches to the entrance, looking around for Saurian presence but nobody else in sight. He enters the machine, and after a brief revision, constates that no occupants were in sight.

000156

He returns to the couple again, saying: "There's a scout vessel left with no Saurians inside! Do you know how to drive on of those?"

— No, but I can try! — Gustav said, decided to be captured if failing ...

— My dear, I'm afraid! — Jena expressed with a tremor in her voice.

— Let's escape in that vessel! The Saurians must be revising every meter of the jungle! They are offended by our boldness! Gustav said.

000157

Once inside the ship, Gustav recognized half the commands and started engines; soon they were flying very erratically but putting more and more distance between the Saurians and themselves.

— Try to correct the direction towards where I appear! There's a black mountain in the vicinity! — Mr. Rezaeta said, trembling of excitement.

They traveled at low altitude; Mr. Rezaeta seated at the Radar screen, Gustav at the controls and Jena at his side, observing.

— As you see, I'm only using the simplest of controls here."

"Just the same it looks rather diff- cult for me."

- I understand. I studied to control a spaceship in disasters. A routinary short course. Here I'm using little of it as controls are different - and huge! Remember our height: its only 2 meters tall! They measure, and I mean the Saurian people, 4 meters tall." - Gustao said.

- Four objects." - Mr. Lezaeta pronounced from his seat.

- Four objects? Where?" - Gustao asked.

- South East. Fast."

- What an hindrance!" - Gustao said, accelerating at top speed. They were glued to their seats with the enormous inertia...

- Stop! I can't breath!" - Lena said.

Gustao decelerate at a bearable limit.

- Objects are way behind us but follo- wing - Mr. Lezaeta said

- I'll land and we'll escape on foot." Gustao said.

- Crazy idea." - Mr. Lezaeta commented - but what's your alternative for our present situation?" - Lena asked

- Outer space." Mr. Lezaeta replied - Where must be a real spaceship waiting? They can hit an object at thousands kilometers away?" - Gustao said - as he has seen it with his own eyes, in the past... a thing he has trying to forget.

- Can it swim?" - Lena asked

- Go under water?" - Gustao asked

- Must possible. Try it." - Mr. Le- zaeta said, and Gustao finds the sea some moments later, when the pursuers has gained approach significatively.

Almost at null velocity, he enter the ocean, travelled some hundred kilometers away from the coast, and landed on the ocean floor, cutting engines.

The hull was making noises and Gustav said: "Pressure seems to be crushing the vessel!"

– Or it's only cooling the metal! the water outside "Let's wait." Mr. Lezaeta commented drily. –

Suddenly they heard a humming sound and instantly Mr. Lezaeta give the signal of to be silent, and pointed upwards. Gustav knew they were scanning the sea bottoms so they could spot the aerial vehicle...

Half an hour of that and the sounds collapsed. Mr. Fetcher signalled to remain silent and reclining onto his seat, he close his eyes as if for a nap.

Another half an hour, and the buzzing returns, but this time dimmer; soon it was gone.

The three on the main cabin stayed for another 2 hours and awakening, Lord Lezaeta said: "Guess they go went away or they leave a robot scanning device."

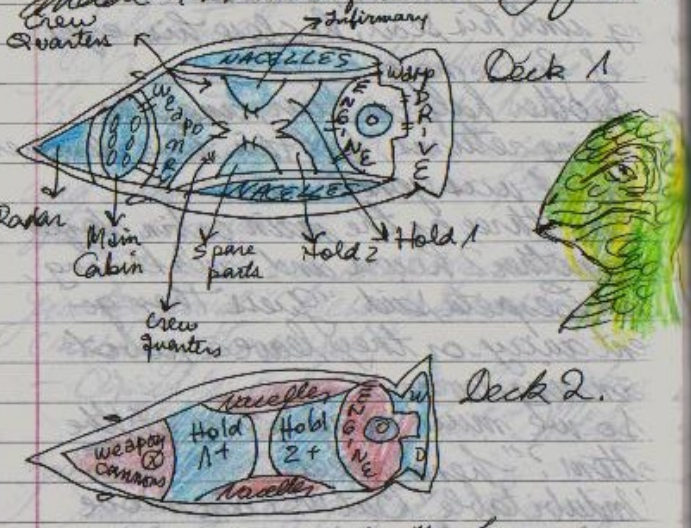

"So we must remain here at the bottom?" Lena asked.

– Undubitable! But we can move around, and producing noises or talking loud." Mr. Lezaeta replied

"Yes! I have my legs cramped of to be seated here for hours!" Gus ago said, and they walked around the rooms, trying to make a mental sketch of it all, and later Gustav made a sketch of what they found.

Later they slept - Mr. Pegaeta on the floor of the main cabin, and Loena with Gustav at a cabin, that have a soft rug on the floor. The temperature was of 16°C centigrades, not very warm but enough to bear without catching a cold.

000163

20 hours later, and now very sure that the enemy vessels were gone, they began to travel guided by the sonar and, when finding little depth, they made the craft to fly away from the sea and into the forest.

– We must find food or we'll starve!" – Mr. Pegaeta said.

– We have no weapons, but we could find fruits." – Gustav said.

They landed near some big trees, that made the craft not easily seen from the air.

– How much more to find your spot of arrival, Mr. Pegaeta?" – Gustav asked. The Swan astronomer rubbed his neck and said: "Certainly I'm not not sure at all. Perhaps I will never find it" - He said.

So... we'll be here for eternity!" - hero said, very dissapointed.

They did find fruits but also, a tribe that lives on them - a pair of warriors takes them to a hut, where an hairy man said: "What are you doing in my realm? I'm Topus 3, the magnificent!"

The man was not huge but his stare is still afraid. Gustav said: "We escaped the Saurian people some days ago; we look thin now, because we haven't eat in a month!"

The chief looked at them (specially at the woman) and said = "I'll pardon you. Now, you can stay here for 3 days! But if you want to join my kingdom, you'll have to pass a test!"

"And if we fail the test?" - Mr. Spiela asked.

"Then, we'll throw you out the community... naked!"

—Why naked, sir?" Mr. Rozac he asked, meekly.

—Because we'll take something from you as duly payment."

—I see. Clever decision."— Mr. Regreta said, with a conciliatory tone— he knew that the first contact needs leniency— later, he'll see what to do...

They eat, at dawn, fruits and some meat, and they were inside an enclosure 30 meters in diameter, disguised as a dense bush with spikes and thorns.

—At least we're in relative safe environ." GUSTAV Lena commented

—Yes, dear. Wish we could stay more time than what the chief said." Lena said —No, darling. These fellows could have evil routines with us strangers." Gustav said, and embracing her, went to sleep.

Before dawn, Mr. Regreta wakes him, saying in a murmur: "Wake up, Gustav! We got to leave."

—Danger?

—I heard something awake your woman and fellows me said."—

000168

Mr. Negueta said, in haste.

Lena yawned and said: "What's wrong, dear?"

– Silence! We got to leave now!" Gustav whispered.

– But, why? The chief said we could stay a couple of days!" – She murmured back.

– Don't argue anymore!" He said, helping her stand on her feet. They followed Mr. Negueta by the border of the thorns wall, and by a crevice – not excent of spikes – they walk outside.

– Now, run!" – Mr. Negueta urged, and they run in zig zag until far from the tribe. They seat near a big tree, and the astronomer said: "I heard a group of tribesmen talking about it. It's "that" to your woman".

000169

and about us, they were going to sent us to watch for fruits and make any job they deemed dangerous. They comment on other strangers that arrives before us – none of them are alive now."

A silence, broken by the sound of a twig snapping under the pressure of a feet".

"Dear!" – She said, embracing Gustav.

Mr. Negueta stands up and seeing something into the bush – about 20 meters away – become like a stone statue made of stone".

"What is it?" – Gustav asked

After a moment the astronomer said: "A man.

They stand up and stared at the figure: the man was using a new suit and a explorer cap.

000170

– Hey, there! Is Mr. Legaeta with you? – The man yelled using his hands as an amplifier.
– I am Legaeta! – yelled the astronomer back. A far roar dino was also heard. The man approaches and said: "I have had been searching for you all over! Who are these people?
– My friends. Where is your vessel?
– Mr. Legaeta asked.
– Vessel? No. I come with the T.T. Translation machine! Hurry up and follow me! Seems a beast heard our yellings. – The man said, staring at the forest.
– All right! Lead us!" – Mr. L. said, walking after that man.
They walked for a quarter of an hour, evading 2 groups of Coelophysis that were scavenging in haste.

A capsule – different than Mr. Legaeta used – was standing near a rock; they enter it and the man pressed some digital buttons on a screen, and after a very strange feeling, they were at the driver's home date...
– Where are we, lad?" Mr. Mr. Legaeta asked.
– At your friend's home! He donated all his personal issues to the Organization 60.". – the man said.
– But... I need to know a lot of things about his death, his many projects!" – Mr. Legaeta said, understanding – and with pain – that his dear old friend has passed away.
– There is a patron now, that is a wonderful feat.

a relative of your friend."— And they were ushered to a room where they seat to wait on comfortable chairs in front of a mahogany old desk where, on top, lay a lot of papers.

Half an hour later, 2 young woman arrives in haste, and stares at Mr Fonseca and his 2 companions.

"Who is Mr. Fonseca?"- Asked the taller of them.

— Me. And my friends here are Mr. Gustav and Miss Lena."- Fonseca said, standing up, followed by Gustav and Lena in that polite gesture.

Surela and Marlada, granddaughters of Dumont

The smaller of the women said: "Gustav? The nephew of my grandfather?"

Yes. It's a pity to hear that he is dead. What was the cause of his decease?"- Gustav said, hand in hand with Lena.

"Heart attack..." She replied. The taller woman said: "Please be seated. Surela, let's seat behind the desk, to talk with them."

"Yes, Marlada."- Surela replied, and then Marlada said: "My grandfather Dumont was very grieved by the failure on the Transporter Temporis, — That, and he was also worried about you, Gustav. You never came back."— Surela mentioned.

Yes. Our fleet was totally destroyed in a battle against the Andrian creatures."— Gustav replied and that was received with much surprise by both women.

—What are you talking about? The fleet destroyed all threat from the Saurians and it's in any day now that it will come back!" Surela mentioned.

—You must be mistaked."— Marbada said, looking at Mr. Legaeta, who nodded and said:" I saw the ruins of the major city there. Humans are meat for their captors - the merciless Saurians."

—I cannot believe it!"— Surela said, putting a hand over her chest.

—Believe it. People that is not under the yoke of the Saurians, are in the woods living almost as savages."— Mr. Legaeta comm-tea.

000175

—Perhaps you weren't at the proper planet?

—Planet 3 of star 38092. 38309."— Gustav said.

—Well! Seems the Gov. has being lying to the public!— Surela said.

—Yes. 2 starships must have returned alive! Or perhaps they were chased and chased - as many others in that terrific battle."— Gustav said.

—Perhaps our fleet is at a minimal today."— Mr. Legaeta said.

—Well! High politics it's for the government to deal with."— Surela said, looking at her sister, who sighed and said:" My grandfather leaves several items for you, Mr. Legaeta: first, his entire library." Surela said, who secretely has already taken the most valuable books of it - on pure greed as she has not ~~seen a b~~ read a book after school).

-Most generous of him." Mr. Legaeta remarked.

-And to you, cousin Gustao, his old car and some money at the bank. To my mother he bequited this house and all it's in it - except the library, of course." - Marlada said, stiffly. (They have already a morgage on the property.)

- Very good. I liked that car, but I suppose it's out of function now." Gustav said, thinking primerely on the money at the bank...

From there, Mr. Legaeta takes Gustav and his fiancee to the his house, that looked very dusty. Seeing that, he offered them some money to be waiting at an hotel while Gustav recei ves the inherited money.

"I'll accept. My wallet is missing." - Gustav said jockingly.

They stayed at the "Rochval hotel" for five days and in a visit to Mr. Dumont ex-house, Gustav receives a paper from Miss Marlada, who told him: "Here, cousin Gustav! With this paper you must go to the Scolia Bank, where I already give instructions in your behalf."

- Thanks, Marlada. Hope I could keep on visiting you, after this affair is over." - Gustav indicates, as the relative in question was looking in a very distant manner unto them.

-Of course, cousin. Come every time you want." - She said, mildly surprised.

At the Bank, Gustav receives 18 Million sopes - not enough to buy a proper house, but enough to pay a rent for a small cottage and for to repair the old car that indeed was in an awful state.

– I don't know why don't you just dump that car! It's obsolete and smell bad." – Lena recommended.

– Why? It's from a famous builder and it'll run smoothly after the repairs gets in place." – Gustav said.

They lodged in a better hotel, this time at the "Southende Fanulle Hotel" where a fine bath, with hot water was available at any hour of the day...

It was there that a Reporter appears, saying: "Are you Mr. Gustav? I'm Bertol, news Reporter."

– Yes, I am. What can I do for you, sir?" Gustav asked, seating with Lena at the foyer of that hotel.

– Sorry to interrupt. You both were going out, yes? Perhaps I could come back later." – Mr. Bertol, N.R., said apologetically.

"We can talk freely now. Plenty of time yet to where we were going." – Gustav said and Lena smiled.

– Very well. I heard that you recently come from outer space in company of your beatiful lady here present, and also with an Astronomer of note. Is that true?" Mr. Bertol said.

– Yes, absolutely. "Gustav replied.

"Well, if you come from outer space, perhaps you could confirm me the exact place from where you come back?" Bertol asked – Star 38309." Gustav said

– good. That was where our Starfleet 000184

radio and from weeks before the military men were being preparing obsolete spaceships for battle, and fas tening pace on the construction of new ones.

— My dear, you always looking at the news and never going out of the room for a walk! Let's go out and try to have fun together!" Lena commanded and Gustav obeyed.

After a nice evening eating and dancing, they return to their hotel room very very happy.

— So I was worried for nothing! Gustav said, laughing.

Mr. Negreta visited them at the next day and said: "Well, this is farewell! I will open a Butcher's shop at ~~Stanford~~ Palo Alto. I will spent some time there, making propagacion de noticias falsas y atentar contra la paz social.— 000185 money for my old age." — And blinked an eye, as if it was a joke.

— Hope you have success in your project. We are happy here." — Gustav said, embracing his woman.

"See. Well, goodbye, friends." Mr. Negreta said, departing.

Hours later, a policeman arrives to the hotel asking for Gustav. The attendant told the police that Mr. Gustav was not at the moment, so the policeman leaves a paper telling Gustav he was required at the Police Station on the accusation of propagation of false news & attempt against social peace."

The attendant went to Gustav's bedroom and when inside the room he said: "Mr. Gustav, good day. The Police brought you this. I lie saying you were out at the moment, in order to econo mize you the embarrassement of a Police arrest."

Gustav read the paper and said: "Well, guess a news reporter gives to the Media the interviews we have both several days ago."

The attendant nodded and said: — "I understand that this is not as punishable as the Police is saying, but for the image of the hotel. I ask you to leave at once."

— I have only told the news reporter the truth G. said.

— I know you do. Well, I must recommend you to leave by the back door." The attendant said, going out the room.

— The Police wants you in jail! Let's get out of here!" Elena said, putting their pertenences on the valises.

Well... They spot me in a very short real time!" — Gustav said, helping her in that work...

They leave the hotel, crossing the kitchen and when out on the street, they hailed a taxi and descended at the other side of town.

"We'll booked at some other hotel, darling - under fake names." He said, with trembling voice.

They booked at the "Robinson Hotel" where they get an ample room with a fine bath.

"Far better than the other one." She said, clapping her hands in joy... Faked or not, Gustav felt a little better seeing her optimist.

From then on, he practically 000190

some liquor and said: "I'm fired, also. Guess they grew tired of my reports."

— Join the club. — Gustav exclaimed, walking away. Bertol shrugged his shoulders and seats to enjoy the sunset, because it was for free.

Gustav finally was recruited by a small organization, mostly ex military men, retired colonels, that adheres to the idea of the defeat of the fleet.

— You are one who saw the destruction of our Expeditionary Force! — Laurent Mucho said, in a reunion of the Philocosmic Club.

— Really? I'm the only one, because the other person, Mr. Lezama, wasn't at the Spacefleet. —

Sues for breakfast.

Gustav said.

— Yes, but that's a minor thing. In my case, he was there (Star HD 38309) and saw the destruction on human cities. — Mr. Laurent Mucho said (after being a Colonel, Mr Laurent opens a Mini Market and become millionaire - or so they rumored at the Club Philocosmic - Correct. Still 34 years for them to return. I'll be not alive. — Gustav said. Mr. Laurent patted his shoulder, saying, "You'll live up to 140 years old! Why not? Medicines makes miracles in a monthly basis."

— Hope not, in my case. I feel as a terminal man, with goals unfinished for good! — Gustav moaned.

— Here! 20000 Sopes for you. Go and
